

Construction Sector Accord

Challenges in the Construction Sector

- Labour productivity
- Supply chain culture
- Procurement practices
- Risk transfer
- Skill shortages

What is the Construction Sector Accord?

Accord Priority areas

- Workforce capacity and capability
- Procurement and pipeline management
- Building regulations and consenting
- Risk management and allocation
- Health and safety
- More houses and better durability
- Enhanced industry leadership, collaboration and organisation
- Better business performance
- Improved culture and reputation

Who is involved?

Ensuring the Accord works

- Needs to have a collaborative approach that acknowledges a joint government and sector effort is needed to improve the sector's health and vitality.
- Cautiously optimistic the Accord can deliver the bold change the building system needs.
- Critical the next stage, the Accord work programme, has buy-in from all stakeholders to develop and implement the bold change needed.
- See clear and tangible deliverables being developed, implemented and achieved.

How does this relate to other initiatives?

- Government initiatives:
 - Building System Legislative Reform
 - KiwiBuild and Kāinga Ora-Homes and Communities (previously referred to as the Housing and Urban Development Authority)
 - Vocational Education Reform and Skills Action Plan
- RMBA led initiatives:
 - Vertical Construction Leaders Group Strategy
 - Constructive Forum 2019

